QUERIES put to the Author of the Paper called Common Senſe.

1. WHETHER he, the Author of the ſaid Paper, is not an Iriſh Papiſt?

2. Whether he was not the Author of Miſt's Journal?

3. Whether he was not the Author of Fog's Journal?

4. Whether, though he was the Author of both theſe Journals, he did not expreſly aſſert in the firſt Paper that he publiſhed under the Title of Common Senſe, that he never appear'd in Print before?

5. Whether he is not a common, mercenary, hackney Scribler, who writes for Bread? and whether he has, or ever had, a Shilling in his Life, but what he gets by carrying on that infamous Trade?

6. Whether ſuch a Fellow as this, who pretends to write a Paper upon the Principles of Liberty, muſt not be a moſt impudent Cheat and Impoſtor?

To the Author of the DAILY GAZETTEER.

SIR,

S every Well-Wiſher to the Proteſtant Religion and Government muſt have ſeen, with Concern, that ſo fine a Kingdom as Ireland, ſituated in our Neighbourhood, and govern'd by the ſame Laws as ourſelves, ſhould be chiefly inhabited by People educated in the moſt ſlaviſh abject Principles of Popiſh Bigottry and Superſtition, and the moſt determin'd Hatred to a Proteſtant Eſtabliſhment; I am perſuaded it will give great Pleaſure to all good Proteſtants, to know that a Society is incorporated in Dublin for promoting Engliſh Proteſtant Working-Schools in that Kingdom. The Charter was opened in February, 1733. Labour and Induſtry are the profeſs'd Deſigns of this Undertaking, and the Cultivation of Land, by Ploughing, ſowing Corn, Gardening for their Food, and raiſing of Flax, in which the Male Children of the poor deluded ignorant Natives are employ'd; and the Linnen Manufacture, which is promoted by the Girls, who are taught to ſpin, hath been the conſtant Care of the Society, and the Gentlemen concerned for them in the Direction of every School. The Children are brought up to learn the Engliſh Tongue, and to no other Learning but what may give them proper Notions of Religion, and qualify them for the lower Offices of Life, to which this Education determines them. Schools have been already erected, and ſupported by charitable Benefactions, in divers Parts of the Kingdom, and Children been put out Apprentices, in whoſe room other poor Children are conſtantly admitted. Many advantagious Propoſals for new Schools have been made to the Society, ſome of which have been accepted, and School-Houſes are now building accordingly. The true Reaſon why more have not yet been carried into Execution, is, that the Fund of the Society is not ſufficient to enable them to accompliſh what they have at Heart. I obſerve, with great Pleaſure, from the Abſtract of the Proceedings of the Society, (printed with the Biſhop of Rocheſter's Sermon, by M. Downing, in Bartholomew-Cloſe, near Weſt-Smithfield, 1739) 'That 'his Majeſty hath been graciouſly pleaſed to give 'the Society 1000l. and to direct that 1000l. a Year 'ſhould be paid them from Lady-Day laſt, during 'his Royal Pleaſure. This Act of Royal Munificence, will, it's hoped, encourage well-diſpos'd 'Perſons to contribute to this excellent Undertaking, 'which is ſo well calculated to promote the Proteſtant Intereſt, and the Welfare of Great Britain as 'well as of Ireland, by encreaſing the Linnen Manufacture, which is already ſo far extended in 'Ireland, that we are ſupplied from thence with 'great Quantities of Linnen, with which we were 'formerly furniſh'd from Foreign Countries.'

I cannot omit to remark here, that it appears from the above-mention'd Abſtract, that divers Children of a School belonging to the Society are employ'd in the Manufacture of Cambrick at Dundalk, where 400 Pieces have been already made, and perfectly well whitened. This Undertaking deſerves all poſſible Encouragement, it being a too melancholy Truth, that vaſt Sums of Money are ſent every Year from hence, to purchaſe Cambrick from a Country where few or none of our Manufactures are uſed.

I am, &c.

N. B. The Perſons appointed in the above-mention'd Abſtract to receive Benefactions, or Annual Subſcriptions, to promote this publick and uſeful Work, are, Andrew Drummond, Eſq; Treaſurer to the Correſponding Society, Charing-Croſs; Albert Nesbit, Eſq; in Coleman-Street; Meſſ. Hoare and Comp. in Fleetſtreet; Mr. James Temple, Banker, in the Strand; Meſſ. Wogan and Comp. Spring-Garden, Charing-Croſs; and Mr. Lawrence Cole, Secretary to the Correſponding Society, at the Rainbow Coffee-Houſe in Cornhill.

Yeſterday arriv'd a Mail from Holland.

THE following is a Copy of a Letter from a Foreign Miniſter at Conſtantinople, dated the 25th of March laſt.

'The 22d Inſtant the Grand Seignior declar'd, 'that he thought fit to depoſe Mehemed Jaggia-'Pacha from his Dignity of Grand Vizier, and to 'give it to Ayvas Mehemmed-Pacha, Seraskier of 'Widdin: And two Days ago the Selictar Aga went 'to carry the Bull or Seals of ſ' e Empire to the new 'Grand Vizier. He who at preſent fills that Poſt is 'a very good-natur'd ſenſible Man, an experienced 'Officer, who ſerv'd with Honour in the Campaign 'of 1737. and his Advancement is Matter of great 'Joy to the Janiſſaries, who were ſhock'd at the 'rough and haughty Behaviour of his Predeceſſor. 'The late Vizier is now baniſh'd to Stanchio or 'Lungo, which is one of the Archipelago Iſlands, 'ſituate toward the Coaſts of Natolia, and a Galley 'is ſailed hence to carry him thither.'

The ſame Letter compleatly defeats the Reports that Sare Bey Oglu, the Smyrna Rebel, had beat the Troops of the Grand Seignior.

'Achmet Paſha (ſays the Letter) who was ſent 'into Natolia to take upon him the Command of the 'Grand Seignior's Troops, is return'd hither, after 'having diſpers'd the Rebels of that Province, and 'oblig'd their Chief Sare Bey Oglu to abandon the 'Caſtle to which he was retired. His Highneſs, to 'ſhew his Satisfaction in Achmet's Conduct, has re-'ſtor'd him to the Employment of Kaimacan or Go-'vernor of Conſtantinople, which he left thro' the 'Intrigues of the late Grand Vizier.'

Leghorn, April 28. O. S. Beſides the Convoy which is arrived from Antibes at St. Fiorenzo, conſiſting of 75 Ships, and 4000 Men, including 300 Huſſars, there remain in and about Antibes 10 Battalions, ready to go over to Corſica upon the firſt Order from the Marquis de Maillebois. We hear that a Neapolitan Galley has ſet ſeveral Barrels of Powder aſhore in the Road of Campoloro, and ſome Paſſengers; among whom 'tis ſaid are the Lord Theodore, the Baron de Droſt, his Nephew, and ſeveral other Foreigners. 'Tis ſaid the Corſicans have 20,000 Men on Foot, and that they have Ammunition and Proviſions for their Defence; but that they are divided.

Genoa, May 2. O. S. We have Advice by Letters from Corſica, that the Rebels have forbid all Communication with the French and Genoeſe, on Pain of Death and Forfeiture of Eſtate, to the End that they may know nothing of what they are doing. 'Tis ſaid moreover, That they have declar'd Theodore's Nephew, the Baron de Droſt, their Generaliſſimo, and that they intended to carry him throughout the Iſland to be acknowledg'd in that Quality; but that he choſe to ſtay in the Convent of Arezza, from whence he had publiſh'd a general Pardon for all that had taken Part with the Republick. Mean Time, he gives out, that his Uncle will appear there very ſoon with freſh Succours. The Rebels, on the other Hand, continue burning and deſtroying the Houſes and Effects of thoſe who adhere to the Genoeſe; and as 'tis very likely that Repriſals will ſoon be made upon them, the total Ruin of the Iſland ſeems in a manner unavoidable.

Our Republick had made ſuch magnificent Preparations for the Reception of the Great Duke of Tuſcany, &c. in his Return to Germany, and the Nobility of both Sexes had been at ſuch Expence to ſhine in Feaſts, Balls, &c. on that Occaſion, that his not coming is a great Diſappointment and Mortification, and many Satyrs are fixed up and down the City, in ſome of which the Government is exhorted to apply thoſe Sums to the Expences of the War with the Corſicans.

Letters of the 23d ult. from Marſeilles ſay, that the three Hoſtages that were deliver'd up by the Corſican Malecontents are arrived there, and committed to Fort St. Nicholas till farther Orders; but they have the Liberty of receiving Viſits, and are treated very politely, tho' the Behaviour of the Corſicans has not anſwer'd the French King's Expectation. Theſe Hoſtages, who are of the chief Families in the Iſland, don't ſeem near ſo much concern'd for the Loſs of their own Liberty as for the Behaviour of their Countrymen.

Mentz, May 12. O. S. According to the laſt Advices from Vienna, the Emperor has receiv'd an Expreſs from the Velt Marſhal de Wallis, which is ſuppos'd to have brought News very acceptable to the Court, becauſe one of the Chief Miniſters of the Emperor was heard to ſay, That the Advices brought by this Courier pleas'd him as much as if the Emperor had given him Luxembourg.

Bourdeaux, May 4. O. S. The Tumult betwixt the Students of this City and the Commiſſioners at the Gates is quite pacify'd; but one of the latter is to be hang'd for it next Week by Order of the Court.

Hamburgh, May 11. O. S. 'Tis inſinuated in ſome Letters from Copenhagen, That a Marriage is negociating between the Prince Royal of Denmark, and the Princeſs Louiſa, the 5th and youngeſt Daughter of the King of Great Britain. The Prince is in the 16th Year of his Age, and the Princeſs will be full 15 next December.

IRELAND.

Dublin, May 15. On Saturday laſt Mr. Smith, Keeper of Newgate, with ſome Conſtables, went to the City Marſhalſea to demand one Crosby, a Priſoner there, who was charged with a Rape committed on a young Woman at Donnebrook on May-Day laſt, but the Priſoners refuſing to let him be taken away, and abuſing the Conſtables, Mr. Smith applied to the Sheriff, who came in Perſon with a Party of the Main Guard and demanded the Priſoner to be deliver'd up peaceably; but the Priſoners, inſtead of complying with his Requeſt, fell to pelting him and the Soldiers with Stones, Brick-Bats, and whatever elſe came in their way; upon which the Soldiers were ordered to Fire upon them with Powder only, in hopes to frighten them; but it only ſerved to enrage them the more, and accordingly redoubled their Attack and knocked down one of the Soldiers, and wounded another in the Head; upon which they charged with Ball, and fir'd on the Rioters, by which one Kelly, a Brogue-maker, was killed, another wounded in the Shoulder, and one Anne Johnſton had the Pan of her Knee ſhot off. Afterwards Crosby, and ſeveral of the principal Rioters, were taken and put into Newgate.

Upon the Succeſſion of Mr. Belcher to that Government, he reſign'd the Agency, and having an ill State of Health retir'd to Plaiſtow in Eſſex, where he died of a Dropſy, with which he had been afflicted for ſeveral Months. He was a Gentleman of bright Accompliſhments, acquir'd and improv'd in European as well as American Univerſities. He had an elegant Taſte both in Men and Books, and was a Perſon of excellent Learning, ſolid Judgment, and polite Converſation, which being unſullied with the leaſt Tincture of Bigottry to Sects or Parties, either in Church or State, gain'd him the Eſteem both of the Scholar and the Merchant; inſomuch that ſome Years ago he was unanimouſly elected by the General Court of the South Sea Company, to be an Inſpector of their Affairs; but having an eaſy Fortune, he did not care to ſubject himſelf to enſnaring Dependencies, and preferr'd a private Life, tho' he was ſtill poſſeſs'd of thoſe Qualities which would have ſerv'd and adorn'd him in a publick Station.
